FORWARD

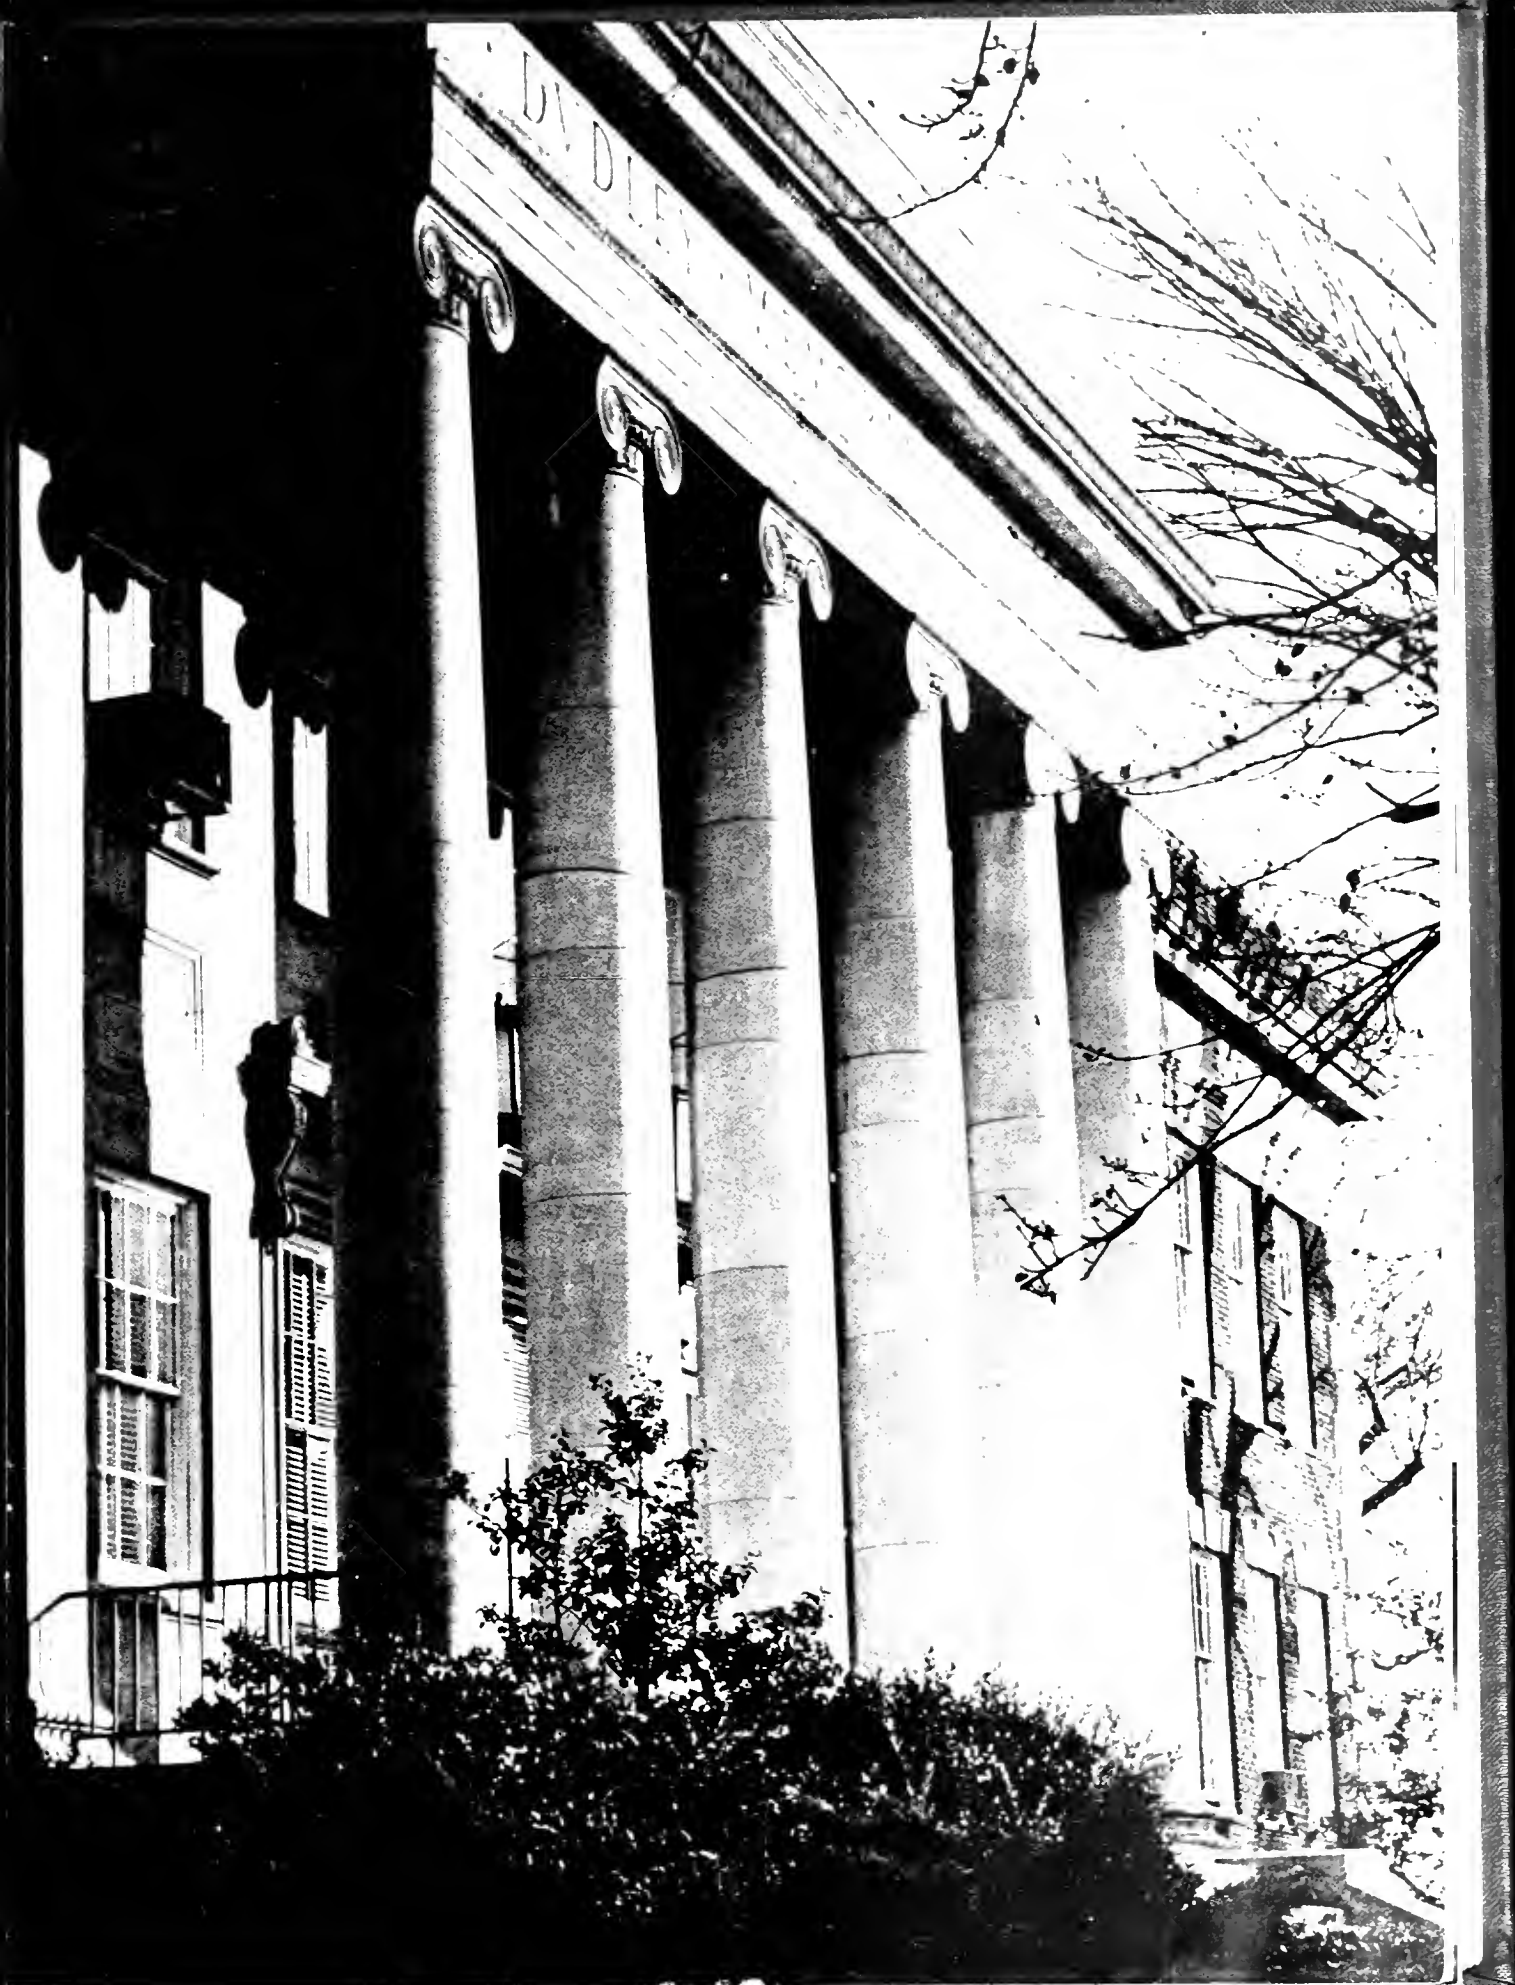

The 1964 Ayantee, done by a faithful few, is the sum total of many hours of work. We have endeavored to portray in this Ayantee a new era; that of the liberal student. Your personal interpretation of the ideas we have tried to express will be the only yard stick of our success.

Mark Twain once said "Among the three or four million cradles now rocking in the land are some which this nation would preserve for a gesture as sacred things, if we could know which ones they are." In this book of memories we have tried to describe some of the "cradles" and hope that these memories will inspire our students to achieve higher goals.

In this Ayantee lie the events that are now treasured memories and it is our objective to preserve them.

As you look back at these memorable events, the editors and staff hope you will enjoy recalling a year well spent.

DEDICATION

DR. DARWIN T. TURNER . . .

The Man . . .

A Brilliant Scholar . . .

An Understanding Teacher

The dedication of the 1964 AYANTEE to Dr. Darwin T. Turner, professor and chairman of the Department of English, is an expression of appreciation for the sincere and deep devotion to an example of the "good teacher", truly dedicated to the task of imparting knowledge, stimulating academic curiosity and even coaxing students to higher academic achievement.

A scholar in his own right, Dr. Turner entered college at the age of 13, was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa at age 15, and graduated in three calendar years at the age of 16.

Continuing his education at the University of Cincinnati, Dr. Turner received the M.A. degree at 18, and after teaching for two-years continued his education by attending summer sessions. He received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago at the "ripe old age" of 25, in 1956.

Upon assuming the position here at A. & T. in 1959, he has instituted major changes in the Department of English, which are paying big dividends.

In this important and historical period of challenge and change, it is heartwarming to observe the good teacher, like Dr. Turner, a true servant to the teaching profession.

To this man . . . this scholar . . . this teacher, we dedicate the 1964 AYANTEE.

ADMINISTRATION . . .

A Change in Command

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, former teacher, dean of the School of Education and General Studies and more recently dean of instruction on April 10, 1964, assumed the presidency of the College.

He replaces Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, who became president of the College in 1960. Dr. Proctor, while on leave from the position, had served with the U. S. Peace Corps as director of the program in Nigeria, Africa and later as associate director. Dr. Proctor resigned in March to return to the Peace Corps.

For twenty months, during the absence of Dr. Proctor, Dr. Dowdy served with distinction as acting president. During the period, our new president had gained valuable experience and a closer acquaintance with both the needs and resources of the institution.

The change of command was therefore less painful than would be normally expected in such an important transition.

A&T College was fortunate, indeed, to have within its family, two men of presidential calibre.

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy, left the new president of A&T College, and Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, right, former president, Blank Robert H. Frazier, chairman of the Trustee Board. The photo was made following the election of Dr. Dowdy in March.

SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

Directed by Dean J. M. Martena, the School of Engineering is constantly expanding its facilities and improving its staff to keep pace with the increasing demands of industry and the times in which we live.

The School of Engineering offers four year courses in architectural, mechanical and electrical engineering, engineering mathematics, engineering physics, fine arts, industrial education, and business.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION AND GENERAL STUDIES

The School of Education and General Studies presented opportunities for both comprehensive and specialized programs of study. In addition to a basic or general studies curriculum, designed to develop in the students those traits expected of an educated person, the School offered opportunities to prepare either for teaching or for a number of other vocational and professional pursuits.

The School is comprised of six major departments offering specialized courses of study in a variety of disciplines leading to the bachelor of science degree. The departments are Education and Psychology, English, Foreign Languages, Music, Physical Education, and Social Science. In addition to specific major concentrations, subjects required for completion of the pre-law and pre-professional social work courses are provided.

SCHOOL OF NURSING

The most recent to be added, the School of Nursing was established in 1953 and offers a bachelor of science degree in nursing. The program is designed to prepare the students for high-level positions in the field of nursing. Included in the curriculum are necessary courses for nursing, as well as general education and the sciences, thus developing the whole student equipped as a professional person and a contributing member of the community.

TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

The Technical Institute has for its purposes to prepare students for careers as technicians in industry and for self-employment.

Six programs, automotive technology, air conditioning and refrigeration technology, drafting technology, electrical technology and mechanical technology, all two-year programs, and building construction technology, a three-year program, are offered by the Technical Institute.

An Associate in Science Degree is awarded to those who satisfactorily complete any of the programs.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

The campus of 1970

Senior counselors at Tea

Freshman Orientation is conducted for one week to acquaint the incoming freshmen with college life. During the week new students tour the campus, meet VIP's, take tests, socialize, and at the end of the induction period, settle down to a normal routine of college life.

It is a thrilling experience not only for the freshmen, themselves, but even the veterans around the college campus.

FALL EVENTS

Dr. Samuel P. Massie, speaker at the Fall Convocation, and Dr. Samuel D. Proctor, two great leaders at two fine colleges.

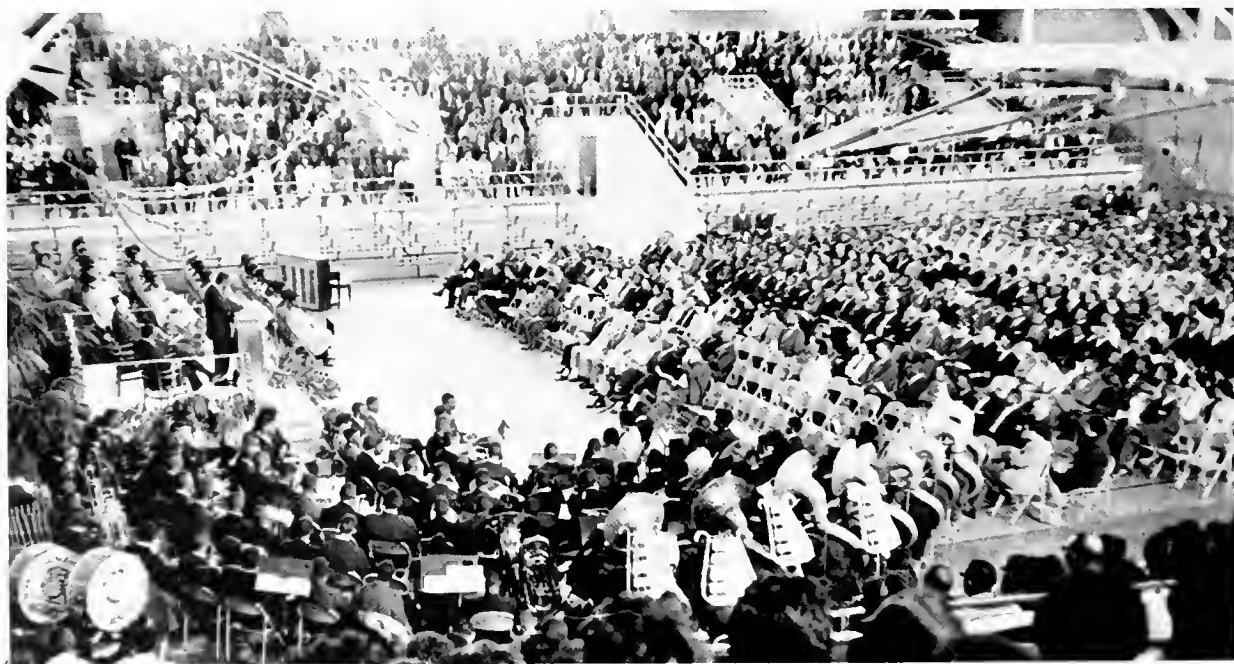

Kenyan Independence Celebration

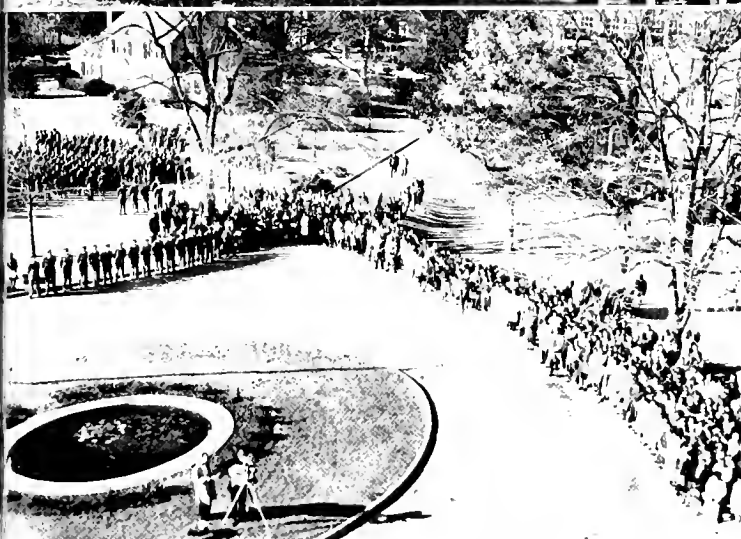

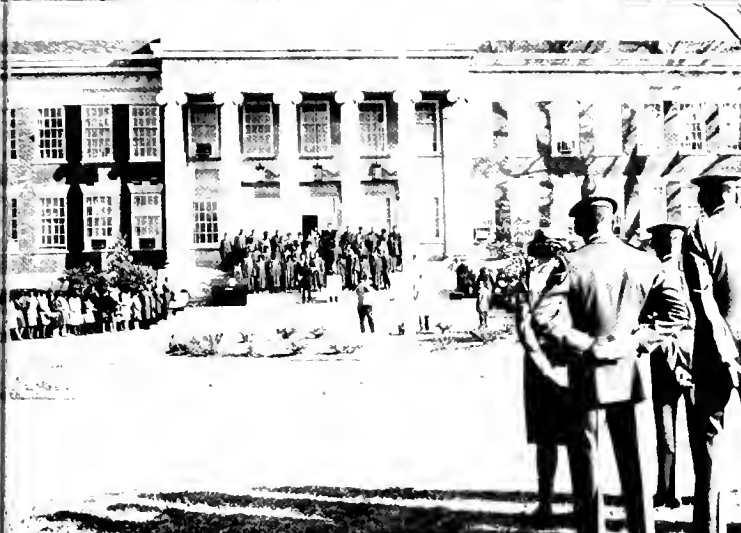

Almost any college student would select fall as the favorite season of the year. Just getting back to college, would be reason enough, but the variety of events associated with college opening and the challenge of discipline to get to work, the welcoming of a brand new set of students, freshmen and football thrills, all form a pleasant combination.

Fall, 1963 at A. & T. was no exception. We happily had all of those things.

Only the shocking death of President John F. Kennedy, which struck a terrible blow to us all, broke the otherwise pleasant fall season.

MISS A. & T.

The attractive and charming Miss Peggy Martin, Greensboro, N. C., served graciously as "Miss A. & T." for 1963-64.

Never has the College had a finer young woman who represented more nearly the high ideals for which Miss A. & T. stands. A good student, Miss Martin had a warmth of personality which drew the admiration and respect of us all. She carried a pleasant smile at all times and had a superior knack of doing and saying the right things at the right time.

ALL-AMERICAN

Luther Woodruff

A 250 pound tackle this year broke into the All-American ranks. Big, tough, and rough are the best descriptions of this player. He has surprising speed for his big frame, and works at the game for constant improvement, putting out every minute that he plays.

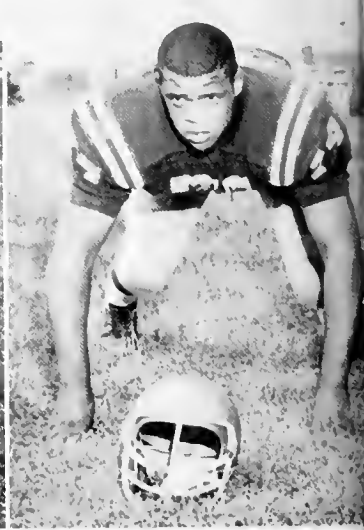

Willie Beasley—Halfback-Fullback

Clifton Matthews—Halfback

George McDowell—Center

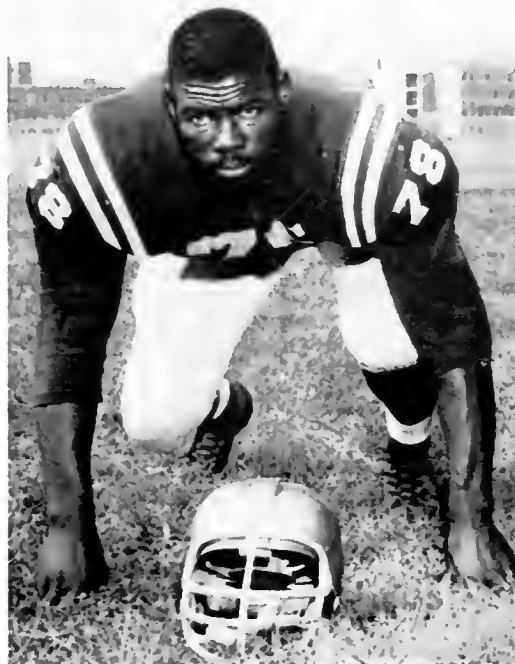

Carl Stanford—Tackle

Cornell Gordon

All-CIAA quarterback. Probably the most talented player on the Aggie squad, he exhibited it by playing also at half-back, and handling the punting chores.

Alexander Gaines

All-CIAA tackle. Considered the best blocker on the squad. He is big enough to overpower the average lineman, yet fast enough to run down the average back.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Majorettes — They led the Thanksgiving parade

When the Carolina Classic Football game is played in alternating years at Greensboro, Thanksgiving Day is a much more important event for A. & T. This was the case in 1963.

There was not the usual rush for home, for most of us remained for the big game, the one which would determine the CIAA champs. We would like to forget the story which followed. We bowed — no football championship.

But, there were other things which caused us to be happy and thankful for the blessings that we had received.

There was the traditional turkey for us all, more than enough

We thought of others — gift food for the underprivileged

Leon Bibbs, the folk singer, drew a packed house.

FALL LYCEUM

Besides a full program of lectures and many interesting experiences brought to the college family last fall, three-big productions really caught our fancy.

Leon Bibbs, the popular folk singer, making his first appearance at A. & T., brought the house down. All of us loved him. Carlos Montoya, a native born Spaniard and a noted Flamingo guitarist, presented a different sort of concert to which the audience warmed, and the production, "Antigone", by the Guilford College Players, was a highlight of the Fall Lyceum Series.

THE SURPRISE TEAM

Big Jim Jackson "dunks" a shot against Smith University in the CIAA tourney championship game.

The Aggies display the CIAA Tournament Championship Trophy, the second of three championships won during the season. The team also won the CIAA Visitation title and the NCAA South Central Playoff crown.

Given only an outside chance to make good in early season, the A&T College Aggies developed into what many consider the best basketball team the college has produced.

Completing the season with a 16-6 record, including one win and one loss in the Winston-Salem Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament, good enough to cop the CIAA Visitation crown, the Aggies really caught fire.

The team blazed through the CIAA Tournament, whipping Hampton Institute, North Carolina College and Johnson C. Smith University, in that order, to win the CIAA Tournament Championship.

A&T was, probably, at its best in the NCAA South Central Regional Tournament at Owensboro, Ky., in defeating Centre College, Danville, Ky., and overpowering Fisk University, to take its third championship in a single season. Not since 1959 had the team done so well.

In the NCAA National College Division Championships, played at Evansville, Indiana, the Aggies breezed past Adelphi College of Garden City, N. Y., dropped a close contest to the University of Akron in the semi-finals, by whipping easily the State College of Iowa for third place in the nation.

The Aggies were the surprise team of the year . . . to everyone except themselves.

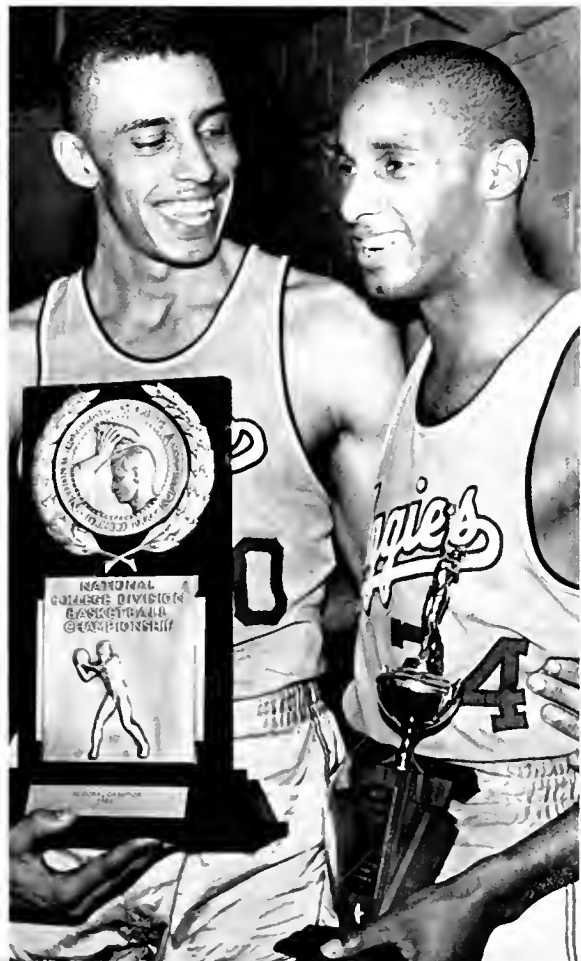

Hugh Evans, a former Aggie star, helps with the coaching chores in the CIAA tourney.

A third championship in a single season. The Aggies present the NCAA South Central Playoff championship trophy to Dr. Proctor following victories at Owensboro, Kentucky, over Centre College and Fisk University, in that order.

Davis and McHartley display the NCAA South Central Playoff championship trophy at Owensboro, Kentucky. McHartley also holds the "Most Valuable Player" Award, his second for the season.

The high riding Aggies board a plane for Evansville, Indiana, for an attack at the NCAA National College Division Championship. Defeated in the semi-finals by the University of Akron, A. & T. had to settle for third place.

SWIMMING

Walter Meares and Bernard White served as team captains.

When the A. & T. College Swimming Team took second honors at the annual CIAA Swimming Meet, tank performance at the College had reached a brand new milestone.

The Aggies, who had started intercollegiate swim competition just three-years before, had now thrown its first real challenge. The team was no longer to be a "door-mat" for the conference.

Taking four gold, eight silver and seven bronze medals in the conference meet, A. & T. also did well in several smaller meets.

PAN HELLENIC COUNCIL

Exerting influence in every walk of Greek life at A. & T. the Pan Hellenic Council serves as the law making body and control center for fraternities and sororities.

With George Hill as president, the Council sponsored during the year programs and constructive activities directed toward the improvement in inter-Greek relations. Its social program included: the Pan Hellenic socials and the All-Greek dances held during the year.

Representatives from seven Greek lettered organizations make up its membership with each having three votes. Members of the Council receive invaluable experience in governmental and legislative procedures.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA SORORITY

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was founded on the campus of Howard University, January 16, 1908. This was the first Greek letter organization for Negro college women. Dedicated to cultivate and encourage high scholastic, cultural, ethical and moral standards, the twenty-eight sorors of Alpha Phi Chapter strive to uphold these cherished precepts.

ALPHA PHI ALPHA FRATERNITY

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, the first and oldest Negro fraternity, was founded at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, on December 4, 1906. This group of young men perpetuated ideals of brotherhood, scholarship and achievement.

ZETA PHI BETA SORORITY

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, founded on the campus of Howard University Washington, D. C., in 1920, is composed of women who place emphasis on finer womanhood, high scholarship, and religious concepts.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority is the first and only sorority to be identified as sisters to a fraternity, Phi Beta Sigma.

PHI BETA SIGMA FRATERNITY

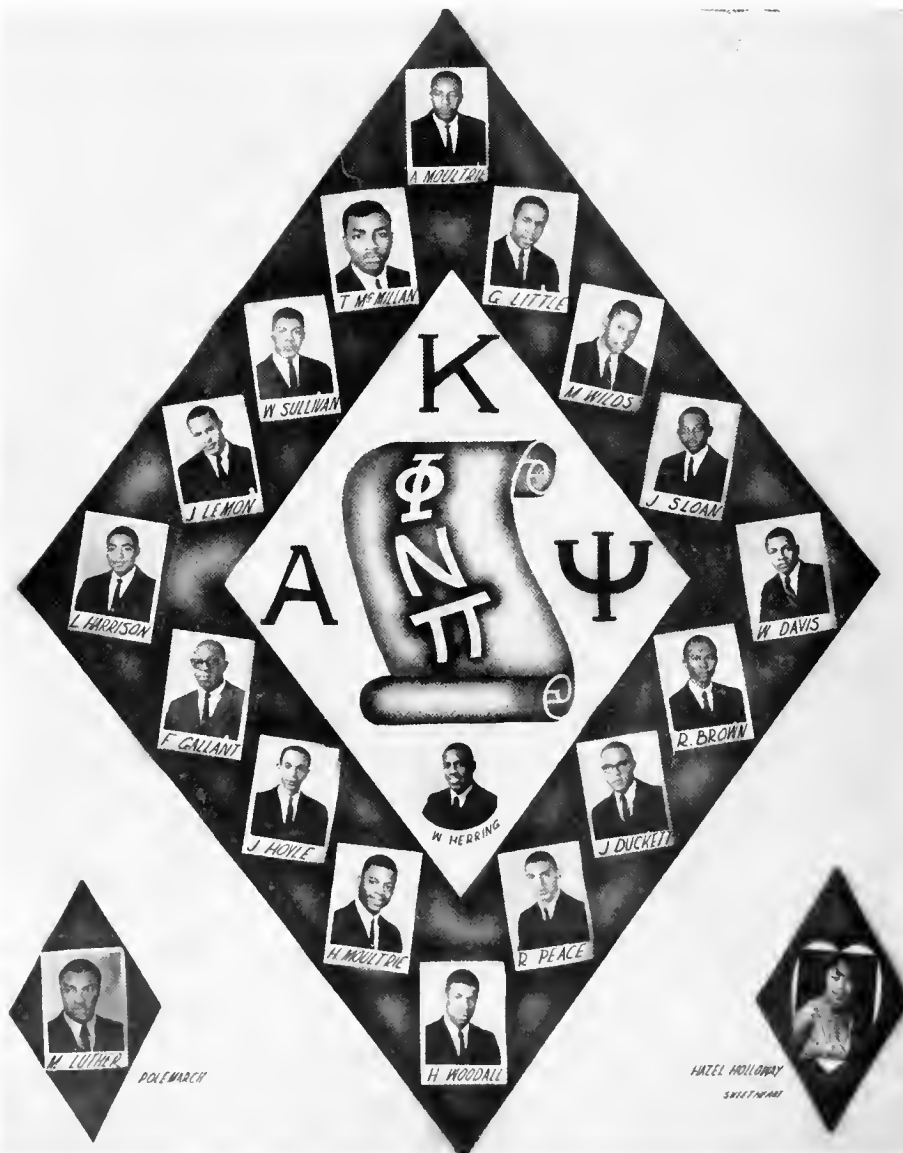

Eta Chapter of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was established here at A. & T. College during the fall quarter of 1915 under the supervision of Dr. Savage, a faculty member at that time. Under the leadership and hard work of Dr. Savage, and others interested in the progress of Eta Chapter, it was among the first few Chapters to be added to the roster of Fraternities on campus. "Our cause speeds on its way."

KAPPA ALPHA PSI FRATERNITY

Officers of the local chapter included: Polemarch, Michael Luther; Vice Polemarch, James Hoyle; Keeper of Records and Exchequer, Troy McMillan; Assistant Keeper of Records and Exchequer, James Lemon; Strategus, Arthur Moultrie; Lt. Strategus, Frederick Gallant; Historian and Reporter, Joseph Duckett, and Chaplain, Moses Wilds.

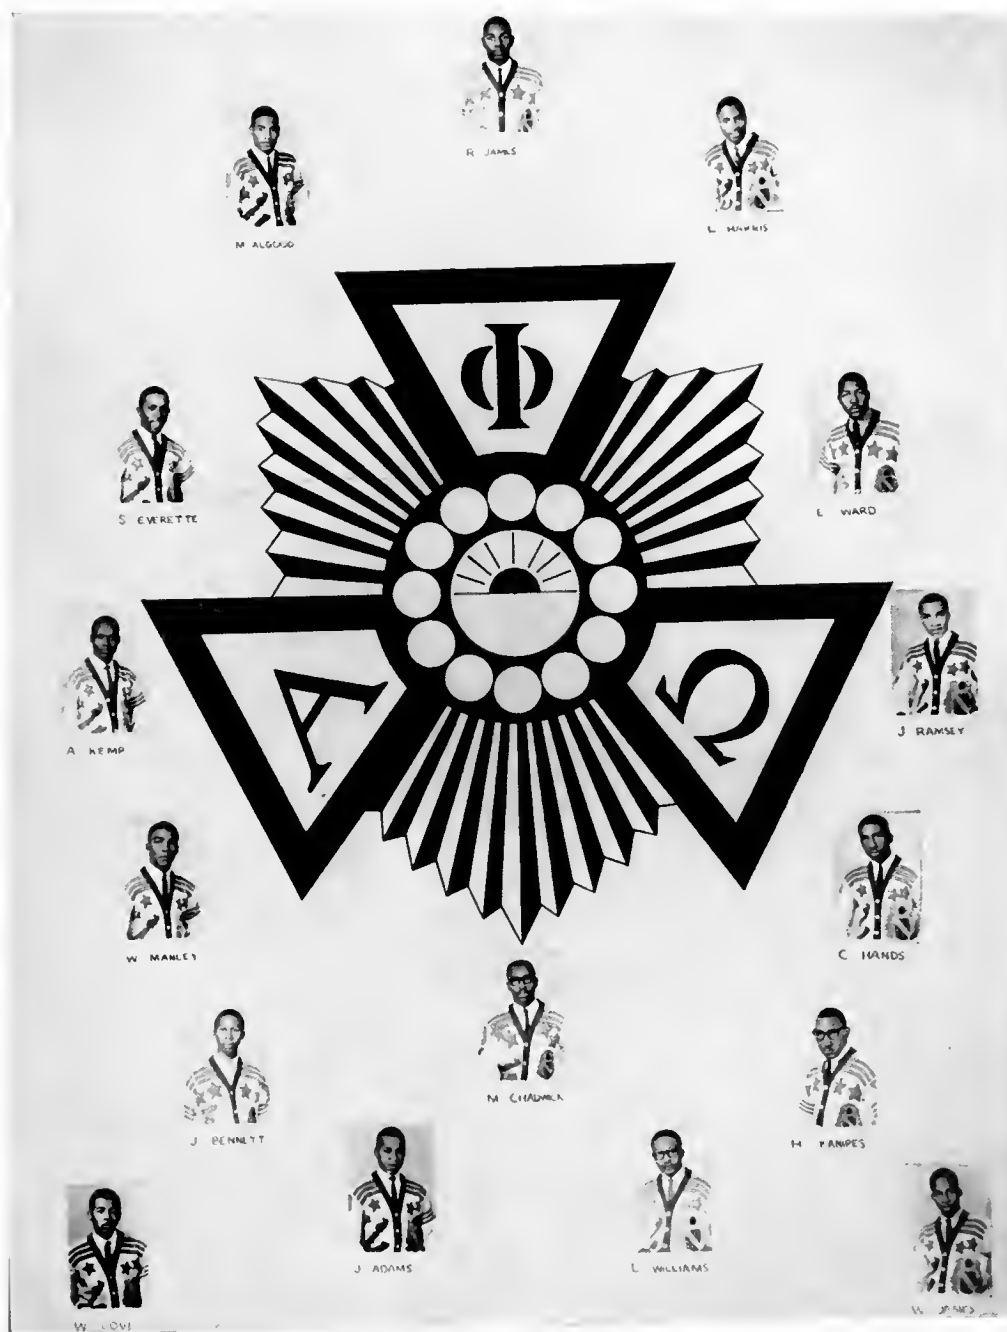

Alpha Nu Chapter is the thirty-sixth chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. The Fraternity was founded on January 5, 1911, on the campus of Indiana University, Bloomington, to instill among college men cultural, intellectual, and academic achievement.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA FRATERNITY

The Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity is a national service fraternity for college and university men, founded in 1925 and now active on more than 300 campuses. The Fraternity has as its purpose to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath, to develop friendship and leadership, to promote service to humanity and to further the freedom that is our national, educational, and intellectual heritage.

OMEGA PSI PHI FRATERNITY

Manhood, Scholarship, Perverserance and Uplift are the four cardinal principles of the Fraternity to which all Omega men strive to live up to.

The members of Mu Psi Chapter, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, established at A. & T. College in 1927, were unyielding in their efforts to uphold these laws in their daily lives.

"Through days of joy and years of pain. . . ."

DELTA SIGMA THETA

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, founded at Howard University in 1913 by 22 young women, is an inter-racial and international institution for college women.

The sorors of the Alpha Mu chapter have dedicated their lives to re-emphasize the high cultural, intellectual, and moral ideas which their founders faithfully advanced.

The officers were: President, Allegray Wilder; Vice-President and Dean of Pledges, Daisy Hodge; Secretary, Patricia Cockerham; Treasurer, Thelma Feaster, and Corresponding Secretary, Mildred Talley.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government during the 1963-64 academic year reached a new high in its services to A. & T. College, its students and faculty.

Headed by the popularly-elected Jesse Jackson, a senior sociology major, and two representatives from each class, the organization got an early start on its work and handled its program with efficiency and dispatch.

The group found ready solutions for many student problems which before appeared to be difficult and, as a result, it helped to create an atmosphere on the campus conducive to better college life.

We are proud of the services the Student Government rendered.

THE AYANTEE

The 1964 edition of the AYANTEE is the result of almost tireless labor, stretched over hours, days and months, the thought of a lot of people at the beginning, but the actual energy of a few near the end.

The staff had the usual problems, almost violent disagreement on the, often, unimportant points, but always total understanding on one objective — to give you the best publication that we could produce.

We finally made it . . . despite at times, many times, we had doubts that we would ever get the whole job completed.

We hope that you will like it. . . .

THE A. & T. COLLEGE REGISTER

The A. & T. College Register, the student newspaper in 1963-64, excelled in its high expectations. Not only did the newspaper live up to its motto of long standing, by publishing the "Cream of the News", but did it more regularly. The publication converted to a weekly publication.

The Editor, Cary Bell, the Faculty Advisor, Mrs. L. M. Marrow, and an efficient staff collaborated to produce a newspaper which met the highest standards.

A valuable asset to the Personnel Department at A. & T., the Men's Student Counselors, has assisted the underclassmen to smooth the transition from high school to college life.

Math Club

The Math Club, an organization sponsored in the School of Engineering, aims at developing among its members a broader concept of the study and application of mathematics.

P. E. M. Club

The P. E. M. Club, composed for members who either major or minor in physical education, aims to develop within its members appreciation for the program which in turn will add to his professional skills.

American Chemical Society

The A. & T. College Chapter of the American Chemical Society bands together those persons interested in chemistry as a career for the motivation of higher professional ability.

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities

A total of thirty-six students were elected to Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities. The honorees were elected on the basis of high academic achievement, leadership potential, participation in extra-curricular activities and superior conduct.

Cape Fear Club

The Cape Fear Club is an organization composed of students from the Wilmington, N. C., area, organized for the social development and mutual assistance among its members.

Usher Board

A group of faithful persons who rendered invaluable services in connection with our own assemblies and public programs composed the Usher Board, an organization which operated under the Auspices of The Chapel.

Pentecostal Fellowship

The Pentecostal Fellowship is an organization composed of students of the Holiness faith which aims at serving the religious needs of its members.

The Sunday School

The Sunday School at the College continued to serve a needed purpose in contributing the spiritual well-being of the students. Its membership continued to grow during the past year.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union, an organization of students in the Baptist faith, had as its aims to provide social and religious activities and those programs which would contribute to church leadership.

Newman Club

The Newman Club serves the on-campus spiritual needs for those of the Catholic faith.

Wesley Foundation

Students of the Methodist faith at the college are organized in a chapter of the Wesley Foundation. Among its purposes are to bring together students of like beliefs with the objective of better interpreting the principles of the Methodist Church.

Tarboro Club

The Tarboro Club brings together those students who come from Tarboro, N.C., and Edgecombe County with the aims of developing group cooperation for the mutual advantages of its membership.

The Young Men's Christian Association

The YMCA envisions a world wide fellowship united by a common loyalty to Jesus Christ for the purpose of developing Christian personality and building a Christian society.

Tri-State Club

The growing enrollments of students from the States of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania cause the inception of the Tri-State Club which aims at developing a closer relationship among its participants which would cause its members to become an integral part of the college community.

The Teloea Club is the professional organization for those who are preparing for careers in the field. The name of the organization, unknown to many, is taken from the first two letters of "TENDER LOVING CARE".

United Men's Congress

The United Men's Congress has for its main purposes to create a broader understanding of the man's role in total living and seeks to set the code for voluntary compliance by those within its membership.

The Women's Senate

The Women's Senate, composed of representatives from each of the women's residence halls, is a voluntary institution which aims at improving the tone of the campus and the part the woman must play.

Jones County Club

The Jones County Club was organized for the purpose of bringing together on the campus those students who come from the county for mutual understanding and helpfulness.

The Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club seeks to extend and support knowledge of the kingship of Jesus Christ, to deepen and strengthen those who are already committed and to establish a fund for this purpose.

It is sponsored by the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The Charleston Club

Composed of natives from the southeast coast of South Carolina, The Charleston Club, like the many area clubs at the College seeks to encourage its members through concerted action to the attainment of the highest goals.

New Farmers of America

The Collegiate Chapter of the New Farmers of America, composed of agricultural students who were former NFA members or who were trainees enrolled in the teacher training department of the School of Agriculture, endeavored to give training and experience to students who would later become teachers of vocational agriculture.

Florida Club

The Good Neighbor Policy served as the basis for the establishment of the Florida Club, an organization of students from the "Sunshine State." Its aim was to bring together friends and neighbors for mutual understanding and helpfulness.

Sociological Society

The development of effective techniques for use in working with the masses, both on the national and international level, and the proper administration thereof, along with the understanding of the need of the application of human relations in the area of sociology, were the goals of the Sociological Society, who had as its members both majors and minors in Sociology and closely related fields of the profession.

International Student Association

The International Student Association contributed much to promote better understanding between all students through the discussion of world issues.

Agricultural Economics Club

Composed mainly of majors and minors in the field of agriculture, it sought to stimulate scientific achievement and an appreciation for advantage and opportunities in agriculture.

Agromony Club

Students majoring in agriculture, who were devoted to the pursuit of the theory of field crop production and soil management, made up the membership of this organization.

Explorer's Club

Biology majors and minors and students who had an interest in the field of Biology comprised the Explorer's Club, which had as its purpose the study of plant and animal life in its natural environment.

Agricultural Association

Being one of the oldest organizations on the campus, the Agricultural Association continued to maintain as its basic objective that of affording a forum for the discussion of the latest trends in modern and scientific agriculture.

Geographic Society

The Geographic Society endeavored to strengthen geographic interest on our campus, to ascertain ways and means to better utilize the resources of our home region, and to make geographic information functional.

American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers

The A.&T. College student chapter of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, chartered in 1963, had as its main objective to stimulate the interest of students in high professional achievement in the technology of the manufacture of tools.

American Institute of Physics

The encouragement of high professional achievement in the field of physics was the purpose of the A. & T. Chapter of the American Institute of Physics, a student professional organization for those pursuing majors or minors in Physics.

Technical Institute Club

This organization was formed to improve the development and utilization of the skills of students majoring in all fields of technology.

Student National Education Association

The Student National Education Association was an organization for students who were preparing to enter the teaching profession. Its aims were to acquaint students with, and to develop an appreciation of, the teaching profession.

The Society of Students of Architecture

Students majoring in Architectural Engineering united in an effort to stimulate interest in this area and to promote a better relationship between themselves.

Automotive Technology Club

This organization was composed of students majoring in Automotive Technology, and it had as its aim to bring together those persons whose interest lie in the study of the automobile.

Art Circle

Composed of those students who had majored or minored in art and those who had an interest in the field of art, the Art Circle had for its objectives the stimulation of interest in the area and the development of appreciation for painting, drawing and related fields.

Industrial Arts Association

The Industrial Arts Association was established for the purpose of increasing interest among those who majored or minored in Industrial Arts. It also sought to promote leadership qualities important to professionals in the field.

Music Educators' National Conference

The members of this group, majors and minors in music, had achieved in the field of music. The organization endeavored to provide professional interest in the teaching of music and to extend professional contacts for the benefit of its members.

Forums, teas, and music appreciation hours featured the presentation of persons outstanding in the field.

El Club Espanol

The El Club Espanol has for its objectives to promote an appreciation for the Spanish language and to create among students a higher appreciation for the Spanish people and their customs.

Fortnightly Club

Placing high emphasis on literature, the Fortnightly Club conducts discussions on books by the masters and contemporary authors and art. The organization is composed chiefly of members who are majors or minors in English.

Stylus Club

Those students, generally majors or minors in English, participate in the Stylus Club, which has as one of its main purposes to stimulate creative writing.

Women's Athletic Association

This association, composed of women physical education majors, serves as an outstanding adjunct to the college's Department of Physical Education. The W. A. A. offers a full schedule of intramural activities, and all female students were welcomed regardless of abilities.

Veteran's Association

The Veteran's Association is composed of those students who have served in the Armed Forces. It gives an excellent outlet for self expression and organized cooperation in those matters of importance to its members under the G. I. Bill.

Dormitory Counselors

This group is composed of select students who have shown leadership and scholarship. Their aims are to acquaint the incoming Freshmen with college life, and to provide help, guidance, and assistance to these new members of the Aggie family.

Lettermen's Club

The Letterman's Club is an organization composed of athletes who have, by superior performance, earned the varsity monogram. They have banded together for the mutual benefit of all, and for the protection of the long and honored position of the Aggie athlete.

Pershing Rifle Society

To foster a spirit of leadership and cooperation among men in the Military Department and to maintain a highly efficient drill company that manifests a high degree of character, leadership ability, and intelligence are its primary aims.

Biology Club

The Biology Club seeks to implement the instructional program at the College so as to stimulate student majors and minors in the field to higher dedication and achievement.

"Mumbo No. 5

The Cynette Dance Troupe this year reached a new high in performance and skill. With the arrival of Miss Annie Jones as the new director, the original Modern Dance Group changed its name and its total outlook.

With the initial concert, a Christmas recital, there was no question that the new organization was headed towards a new level of achievement. The organization did well.

SENIORS....CLASS OF 1964

From freshman to senior appeared early as a long, rocky road, but the nearer we approached graduation time, the stay at dear old A. & T. was short, indeed. . . . We had grown up almost overnight.

In this the final year, the members of the senior class, came face to face with the stark reality, that soon they would be a part of the hard, cold world without the shelter, a big part of the college community and life.

They were seniors. . . .
